

RACE NOTES

SUNDAY 03.19.23 | 7:00 AM | NEW YORK CITY | NYRR.ORG

ABOUT THE RACE

The United Airlines NYC Half is one of New York Road Runners' signature races, taking 25,000 runners from Brooklyn to Manhattan, passing historic landmarks, diverse neighborhoods and sweeping views of the city along the way before ending near the iconic TCS New York City Marathon finish line. Aside from New Year's Eve, the United Airlines NYC Half is the only time Times Square is closed to traffic.

TOP STORYLINES

- The race will feature professional athletes from 15 different countries, including 17 Olympians, 12 Paralympians, and seven past event champions, making it one of the most diverse fields in the race's history. The men's open division will be headlined by Olympic champion Joshua Cheptegei, half-marathon world-record holder Jacob Kiplimo, and Olympic medalist Galen Rupp. Defending champion Senbere Teferi, Olympic and World Championships medalist Hellen Obiri, and two-time U.S. Olympian and three-time event champion Molly Huddle will lead the women's open division. A trio of past TCS New York City Marathon and United Airlines NYC Half champions – Susannah Scaroni, Manuela Schär, and Daniel Romanchuk – will feature in the strongest wheelchair field in event history, which will also welcome Paralympic medalists Catherine Debrunner and Jetze Plat for the first time.
- This year's field will include notable names such as former NFL player Tiki Barber, and reality TV stars Andi Dorfman and Peter Weber. Barber is running to support NYRR's Team for Kids, which this week surpassed $100 million raised for NYRR's youth and community programs since its inception in 2002.
- Members of the NYPD and FDNY will face off in the inaugural Commissioner's Cup, a friendly competition between New York's Finest and New York's Bravest. Commissioner Sewell and Commissioner Kavanagh will serve as honorary captains.
- One thousand kids will participate in the Times Square Kids Run, a 1,500-meter out-and-back course on Seventh Avenue.

Participants will include members of Rising New York Road Runners, NYRR's free youth physical activity program that kids youth develop the ability, confidence, and desire to be physically active for life. The program serves over 112,000 students nationwide, including nearly 50,000 in New York City.

Athletes competing in the non-binary category may start in the "mass start," with prize money positions determined by Net Time.

EVENT RECORDS

Men's Open Division: 59:24, Haile Gebrselassie, 2007

Women's Open Division: 1:07:35, Senbere Teferi, 2022

Men's Wheelchair Division: 47:28, Ernst van Dyk, 2017

Women's Wheelchair Division: 52:25, Tatyana McFadden, 2016

NOTABLE DATES IN EVENT HISTORY

August 27, 2006: More than 10,000 runners took part in the inaugural NYC Half, bringing runners from Central Park through Times Square to the finish on the West Side Highway. Kenya's Thomas Nyariki and Catherine Ndereba won the men's and women's races, respectively.

August 5, 2007: Just over a month before he broke the marathon world record in Berlin, Ethiopian Haile Gebrselassie set the still-standing NYC Half men's open division event record of 59:24, breaking away from the pack after the seven-mile mark to win by more than a minute.

March 17, 2013: The race featured the theme "More Than a Run," as it took place four months after Superstorm Sandy struck the east coast. The race promoted recovering Lower Manhattan businesses while encouraging runners to raise funds for the Mayor's Fund to Advance NYC.

March 16, 2014: The event featured a professional wheelchair division for the first time, with Josh George of the United States and Diane Roy of Canada becoming the division's inaugural champions.

March 20, 2016: Three of the four event records fell: Defending men's wheelchair champion Ernst van Dyk of South Africa lowered his own mark by more than a minute and Tatyana McFadden of the United States broke the women's wheelchair record by more than two minutes. American Molly Huddle broke the women's open division by 50 seconds while winning the closest finish in event history.

March 18, 2018: A redesigned course took runners from Brooklyn to Manhattan, crossing the Manhattan Bridge and passing many of the city's most popular sights before finishing in Central Park. Ben True became the first American to win the men's open division.

March 20, 2022: After being canceled in 2020 and not held in 2021 due to the pandemic, the United Airlines NYC Half returned at full scale in 2022 making it the first NYRR race to return to its traditional field size. Senbere Teferi of Ethiopia broke the women's open division course record.
